THROUGHOUT ALL OF MAN'S EXPERIENCE, THROUGH EVERY ASPECT OF THE WORLD HE INHABITS, RUNS THE EXCLUSIVE ENTITY CALLED TIME.

IT IS AN ABSTRACTION OF SCIENCE THAT TIME IS NOT ABSOLUTE, BUT RATHER OMNIPRESENT TIME—NOT MATTER NOR SPACE—THAT COMES MOST OFTEN TO MIND. TIME IS A GREAT TEACHER, A GREAT HEALER, A GREAT LEVELER OF JUSTICES; IT STANDS STILL, FLIES PAST US, OR SLIPS AWAY FROM US. IT IS THIS OMNIPRESENT TIME JUDSON RECOGNIZES AS THE ANSWER TO THE PUZZLE AND PARADOX OF UNDEFINABLE TIME.

Work is work

Play is fun

Often times you've heard of Judson's highly rated academic studies. What wasn't as well known were the various excursions. This year they included the Grand Canyon, Mexico, Colorado skiing, Hawaii and Lake Powell.

The students who participated in one or all of these trips thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The chaperones had fun, too.

Getting acquainted

Following Saturday's registration a BBQ supper was held around the pool for students, faculty, administration and everyone connected with the school.

Many students went swimming, some lounged around the poolside and some participated in the making of food, which was charbroiled hamburgers and watermelon.

Sandy Holdorf, Tracy Markham, Karen Bengtson and Michelle Holdorf.

Some are still swimming, while the others invade the chow line.

Campus is invaded

Dora McCullick, Robyn Saunders, Jill Crawford, Connie Rogier, Craig Horner, Stephanie Browning.

Halloween was celebrated with numerous events. A pumpkin carving contest was won by the Saguaro dorms. During the day a costume judging took place for Upper and Lower School, which brought many laughs. Fifth graders presented a Halloween play for the Lower School, entitled "The Three Terrors". Halloween parties were held all over campus.

Shelly Shubin, Kim McKensie, Shelley Carroll, Faith Young, Mike McCulley.

Mareli Vesey, Heather Vesey, Steffany Tovar, Joey Tovar, Ronnie Goodman, John Browning, Sean Lincoln.

Homecoming is gala occasion

Homecoming was one of many memorable events. The pep rally joined everyone in enthusiasm. The final cheer was given by Henry Wick.

The color guard opened the day carrying the National, State and School flags. The excitement of the day brought over 600 people to see the game and the crowning of the queen.

The game started off with the Cougars smashing through the opening circle to the football field. Homecoming queen, Connie Rogier, was crowned at half time.

Fred Slyfield, Tammy McCutchin, Polly Hardy, Martha Ifft and Jeff Lewis.

Friday night's pep rally is culminated with a traditional bonfire.

Connie Rogier and Scott Graham.

Wood is piled high and viewers "oh" and "ah" at the beauty of the fire.

ESL helps foreign students

The English Studies Program was designed to teach English to speakers of other languages. Students took classes in reading, vocabulary, grammar and composition that were offered at three levels. Through this study, students learned their English as well as gaining an understanding of American social customs, traditions and history.

The old blends with today's life

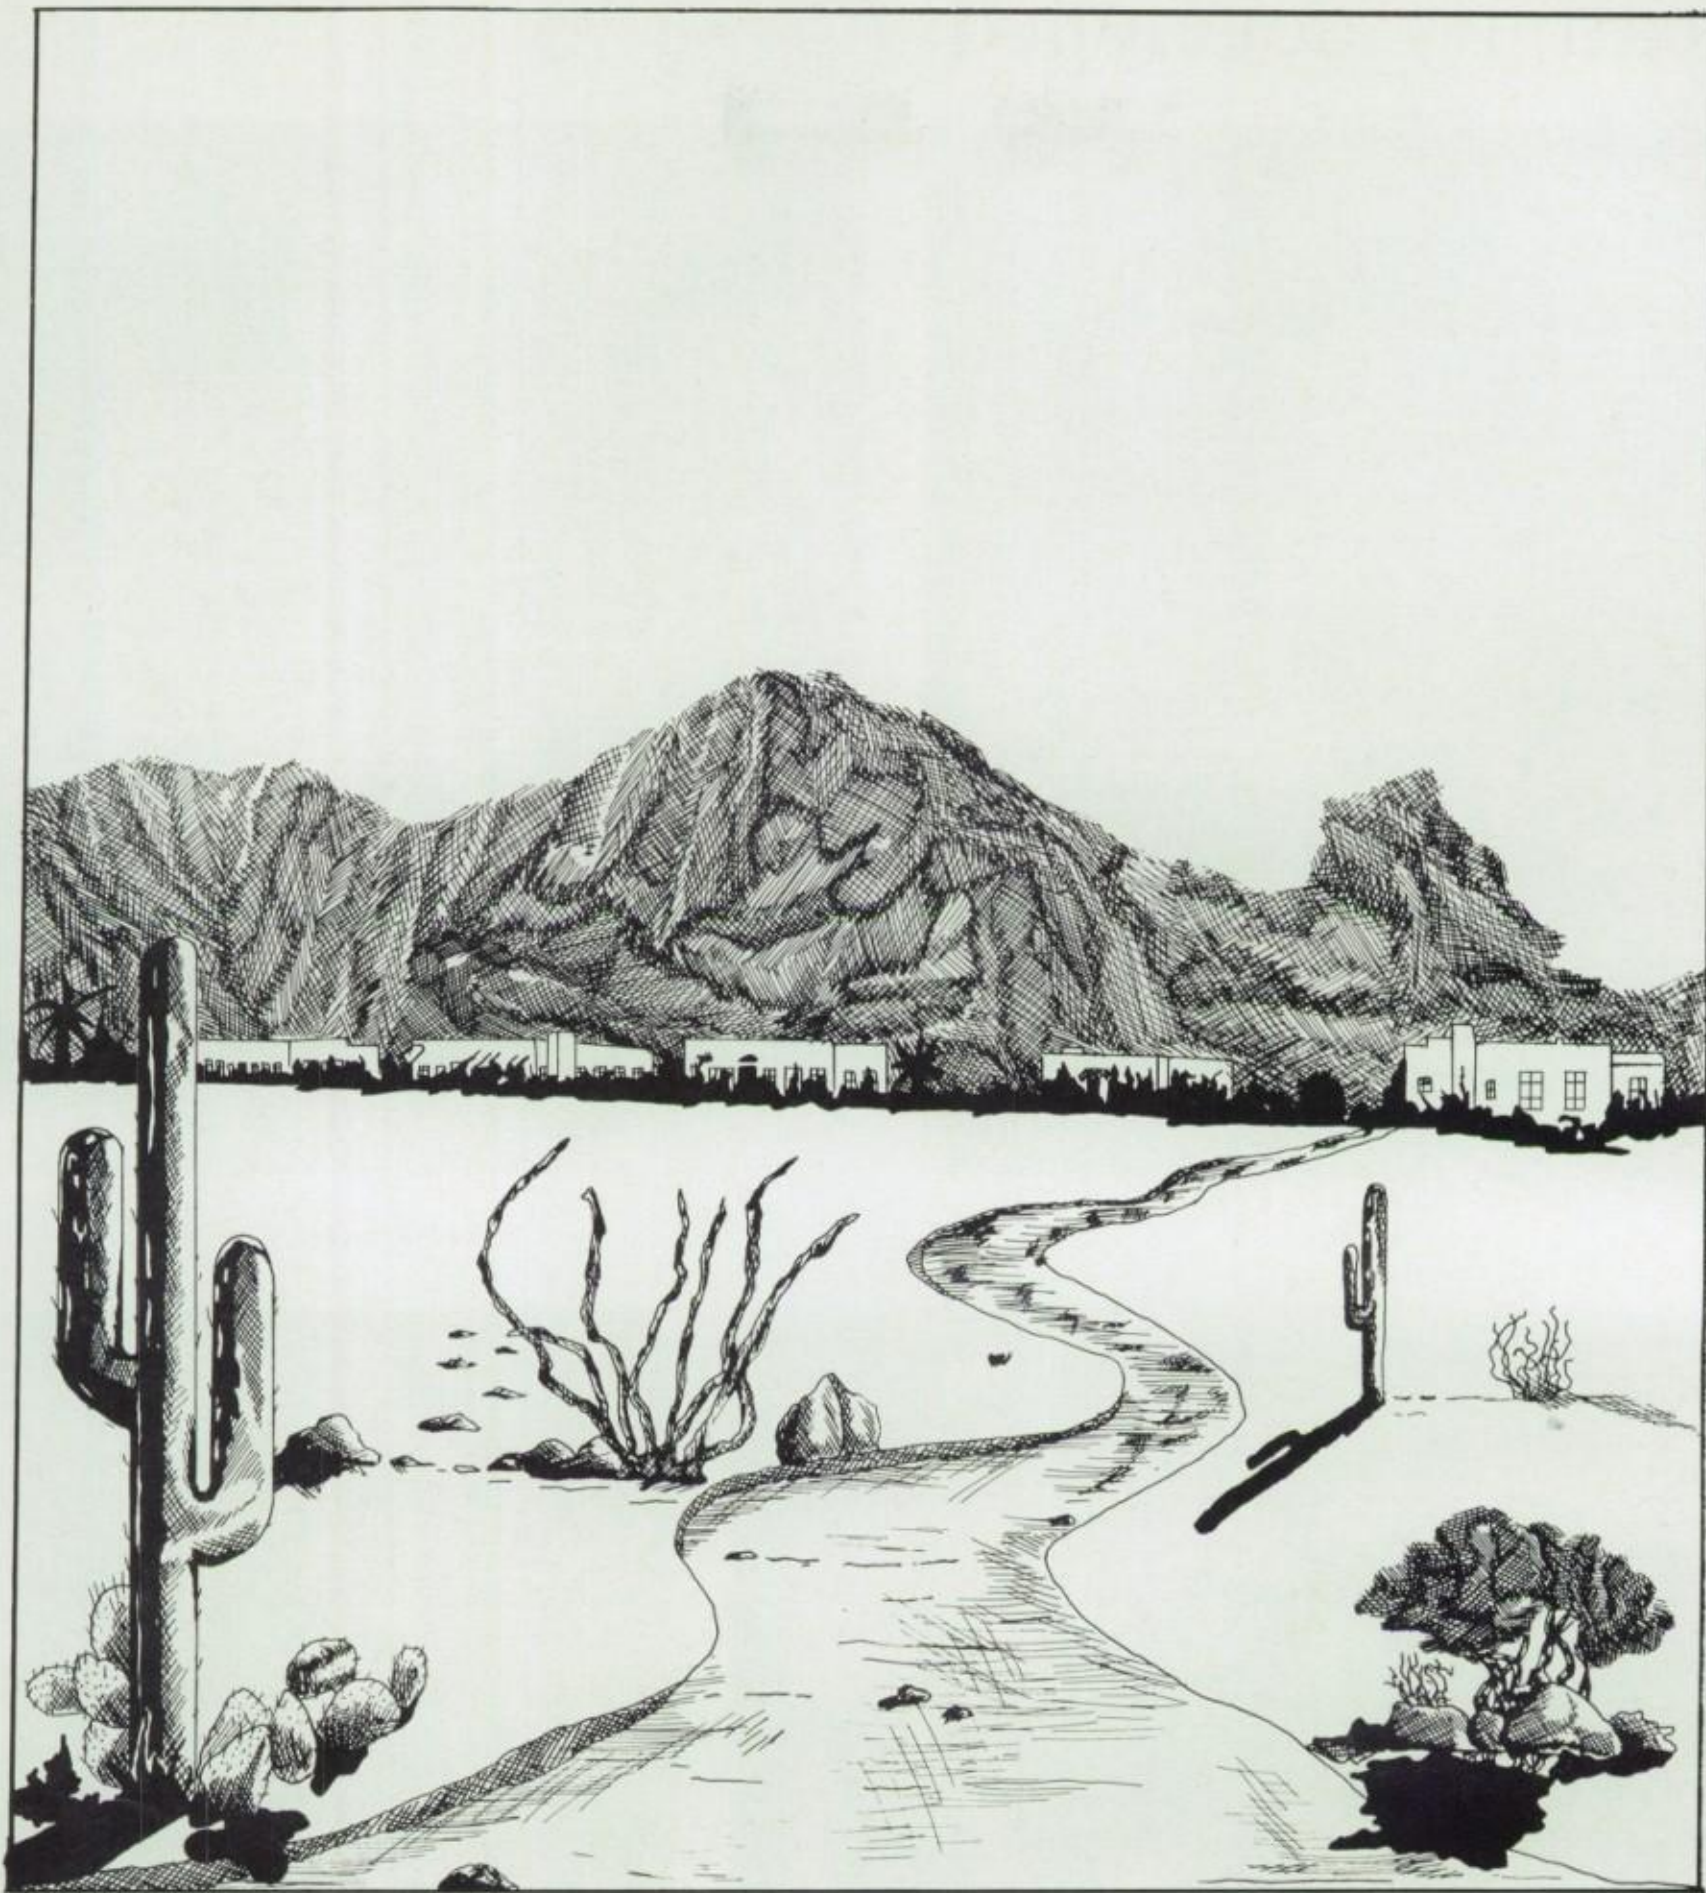

Fiftieth year landmark is the water tower in the background in which was stored water for the school. In the foreground is the guard-house, which was erected many years afterwards.

The Concho was built in 1948 for the students enjoyment after school. Students still delight in its atmosphere.

Peppertree was made into a girl's dorm in 1954 when Judson turned co-ed.

Anyone who visits our campus, or in any way becomes associated with Judson School, is soon caught up under the spell of the past. Although preserved and enhanced by proper care and occasional fresh coats of paint, there still remain a few low adobe walls and rows of fragrant citrus trees, all landmarks.

Judson School was founded in 1928 to provide young people of diverse abilities and interests with a sound, traditional education in the healthful climate of Arizona. A main goal in educating our students at the successive stages of their mental and physical maturity was to guide and assist them to become educable, self-realizing individuals in our complex society.

Judson's philosophy is bringing together young people of all races, colors and creeds from varied cultural, intellectual and economic backgrounds in order to engender within the school community a broad understanding, tolerance and respect for all peoples and cultures.

Credit for this beautiful and smooth-functioning institution of learning must be given those countless hard working, devoted people whose faith and unselfishness has contributed so much to our inspiring present, and our unknown future.

Creativity developed

Debbie DelBosco

Luke Stambaugh

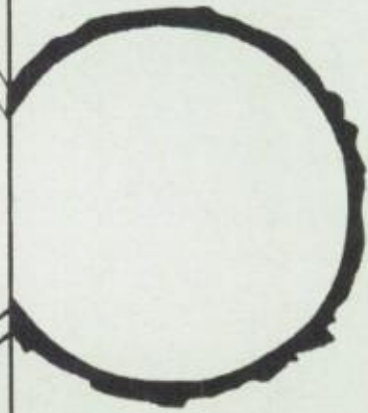

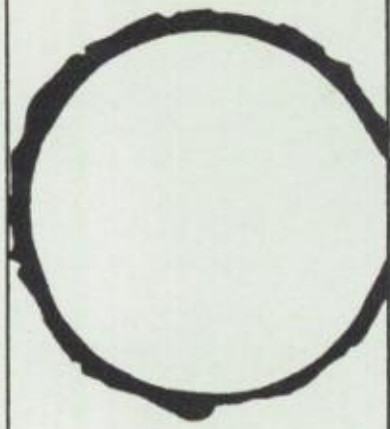

Shelly Pfeifer

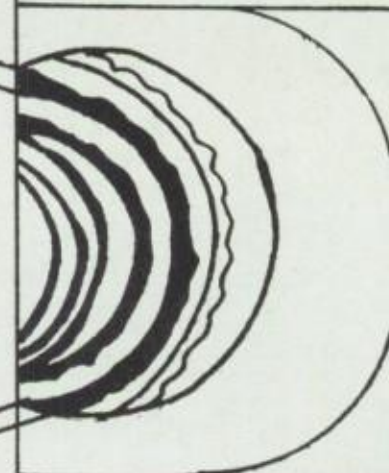

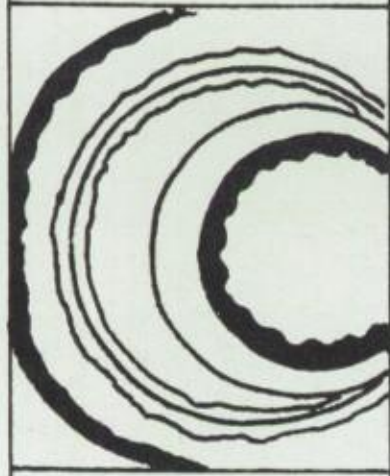

Art students excelled in class and exhibited their works. Stahr's class was famous all over campus for "doing your own thing". Mosaics, painting and stain glass were only a few things which students chose to create.

And Staff

Administration directs way

Henry C. Wick, III, Director

I take special joy and pride in welcoming all of you to Judson's 50th year. Judson was founded in 1928 on what was then a most rugged, remote part of the West. Its philosophy was to offer "sound academics, small classes, and a healthful way of life", and opened with 8 boys. When I first came to Judson in 1938, I taught every subject—math, Latin, physics, history, english—and when the bell rang, I saddled up the horses to take the boys for the daily trail ride around Camelback Mountain.

Weekends were spent on campus or on camping trips, riding back to school in time to crank up the ice cream machine for Sunday luncheon. The school has grown now to include girls and students from 38 states and 22 foreign countries. Our philosophy remains the same. Our students travel to many countries and states to be here. I am appreciative of the learning bridge they form between cultures and ideas that can only be known by a land's most precious resource, its children.

The year has brought joys and challenges. We have resisted intolerance, impatience, rigidity, tunnel vision, and other flaws that could have weakened our true dedication to one another and our faith in each other. I have seen the personal growth that we have achieved through our supportive understanding of each other. My wife, Barbara, and I hope that each and every one of you will honor the sign on our front door that says: "Welcome, come in!" Have a wonderful "birthday" year!

Headmaster

New to Administration this year is Headmaster Dennis Gray.

Starting off the year with an assembly, he made it known to us how he felt about public relations and communication, we all knew that the Administration was on our side. "We're working as one body for the students." Asked what he felt were the strongest points of Judson, Mr. Gray answered, "We are located on fantastic Arizona countryside, for one. The solid academics are good and of good variety. Last, I feel the International aspect of it all is great. Meeting and getting to know everybody is very educational in itself."

Mr. Gray's belief in the students and his open mind has helped us make it through the year. He has made it a very educational year, scholastically and socially.

Dean of Students

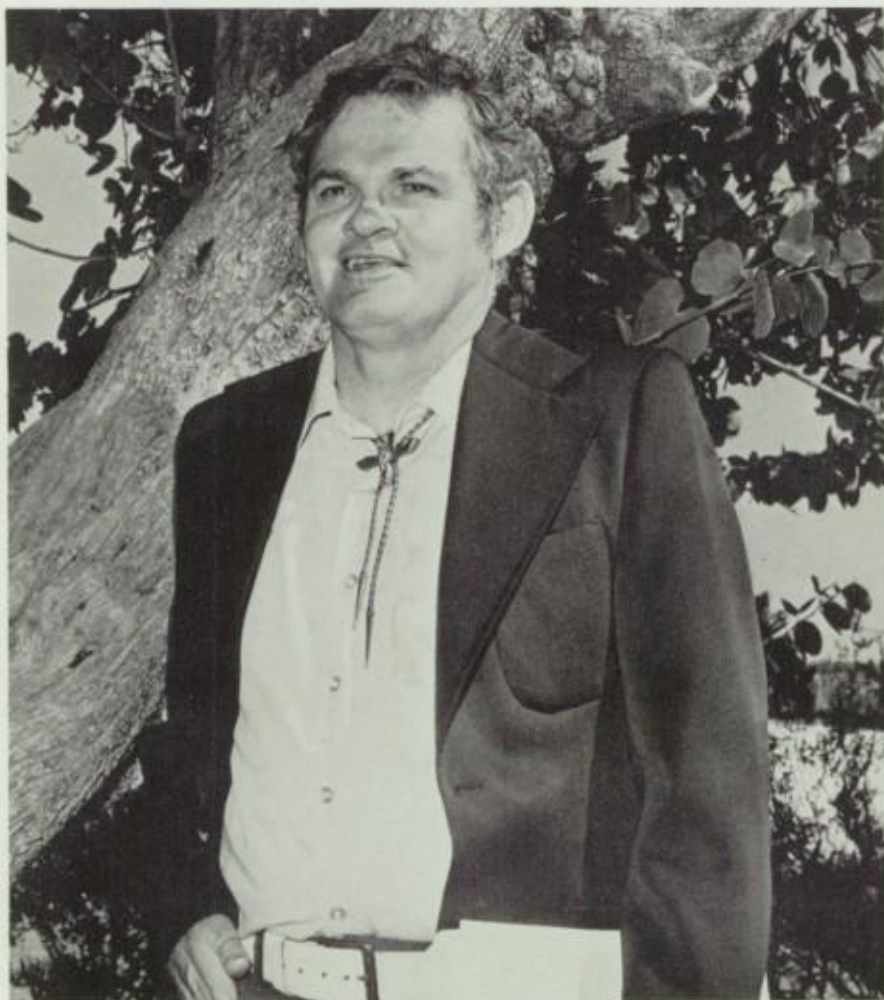

Also new to Administration this year, but not new to Judson, is Dean of Students, Ann Karraker. Formerly Head of Girls Residence, where she aided girls in their personal lives, she now helps boys and girls in their academic lives, in which she is very proficient.

Asked what her goals were, Miss Karraker replied, "I would like to bring the school and the students together. Tighten the communication lines."

Keeping herself busy at Judson is what we all know her for. She lets the students know that they have responsibilities as well as herself. If we have problems, she's always there to help. "I like to do things for the students and I do my best to get them done."

Student Relations

Frank MacDonald, Academic Dean

Jess Bass, Principal Lower School

Barbara Wick, Director Public Relations

Hank Wick, Business Manager

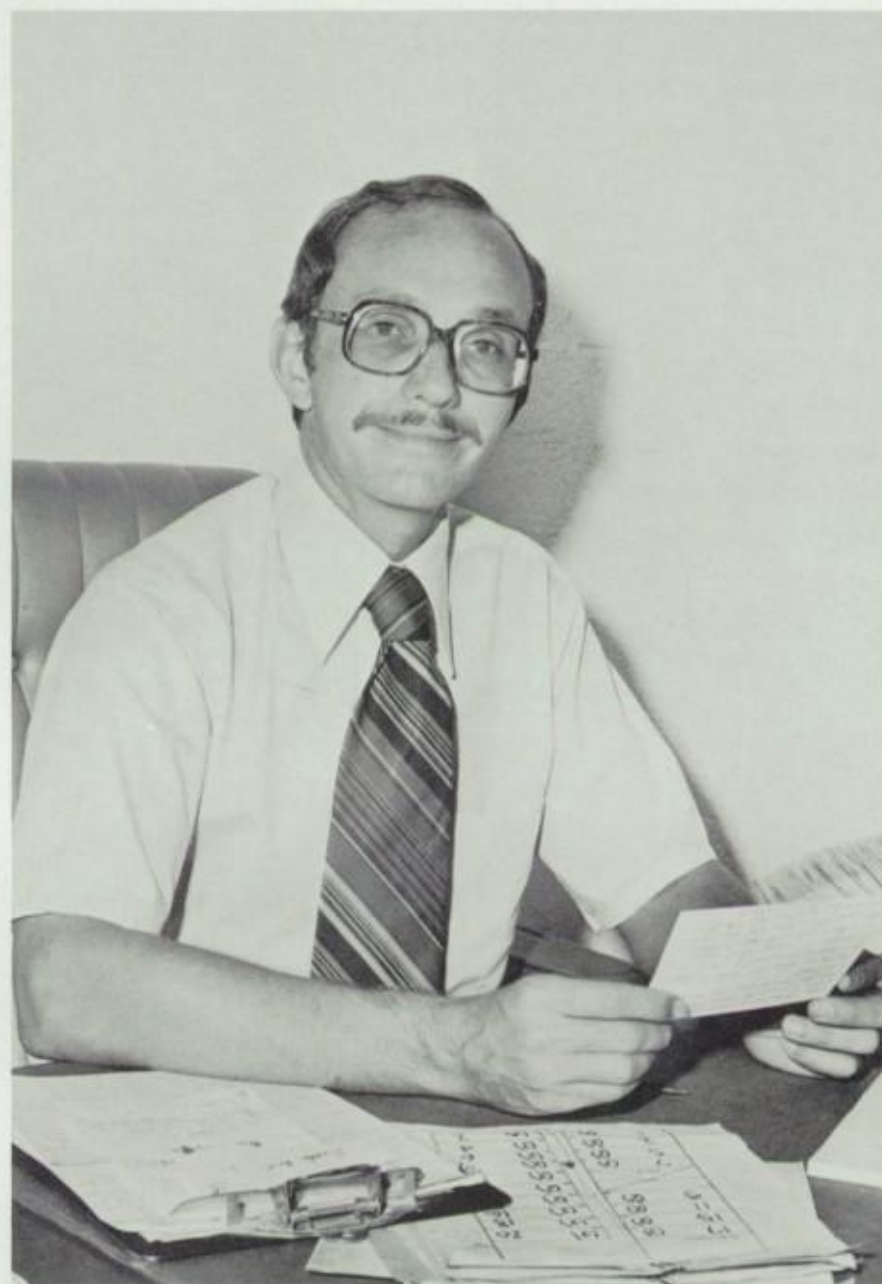

Miss Judy O'Donoghue

Taking over Girls' Residence this year is Miss Judy O'Donoghue. For the last twenty years, Miss O'Donoghue has been involved in worldwide education, the last five years being in Zambia, Africa. She has an extensive knowledge of schooling situations. "It's not just another job. It gave me the opportunity to work with the students, particularly." She felt that this sort of job was challenging and meaningful for her, although she says, "It was hectic and tiring at times, but it still proved rewarding."

Miss O'Donoghue likes the people she's working with, including the counselors, staff, and especially the students. It's her favorite part of her job.

Asked what her main goal was for the year, she replied, "To create a constant, happy environment and to help the girls to grow into mature women." "The year was full of happiness and was good all the year round."

Richard Long

Richard Long was our new Head of Boys' Residence this year. With his experience in Africa and in the Peace Corps, Mr. Long did an excellent job of keeping things in order. "Students are the same all over the world. They all require the same amount of time and understanding. I found out that at Judson, the students are more cooperative than anywhere else I've worked."

Mr. Long's goals were fulfilled this year. He wanted to create a home atmosphere and to get the staff to respect the students, like the students do them. "I want the students to feel wanted and not lonely."

When it came to accomplishing things for the school, Mr. Long was #1. He worked day and night to organize and reorganize the clubs and activities on campus.

Asked what he liked best about Judson, Mr. Long replied, "The international mixture of all the students here is fantastic."

Office

We are seldom given the chance to show our gratitude to the people behind the scene, the accounting staff and office personnel. These people are highly skilled and concerned about the affairs of the students. Each member was dedicated and strove for a pleasant year for everyone concerned.

The office personnel was the center of activities and managed to keep things running smoothly. They accomplished the greatest of all tasks; to keep the students, staff, and parents informed and satisfied.

Kelly Jernigan, Lauri Hensley, Eileen DeVito and Joy Blair.

Accounting Staff

Debby Fessler, Georgia Hunt, Jerry Goudie, Constance Stobs and LaVon Griner.

Infirmary guards health

Laura Lewis, Betty Daly, Jane Polling, Anne Krog (Head Nurse), Myrtle Olson and Loretta Scarp.

Bookstore meets needs

Grace Hovland and Lib Schaare

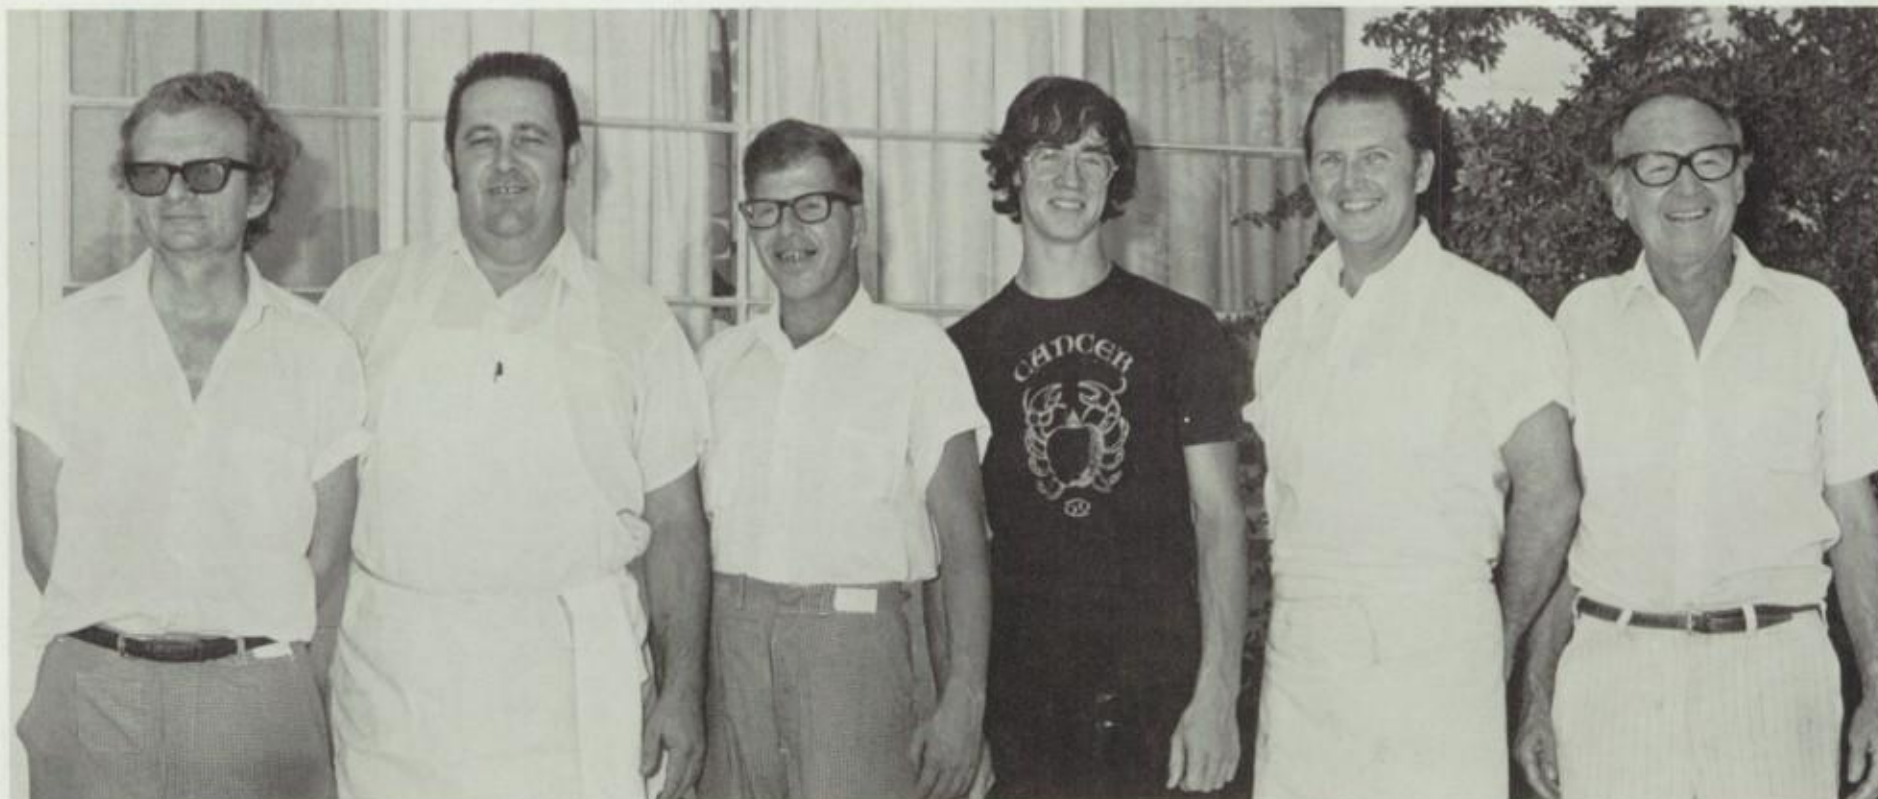

Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week and eight months of the year, our nurses worked for better health and inspiration among the students here at Judson. One of the nurses said that the infirmary tried its hardest to cure anything from homesickness to heartache and from head colds to sore toes.

The head nurse did a good job of keeping a sense of organization in the infirmary throughout the year. The registered nurses, who were busy both night and day, were restoring health and preventing health hazards for a better environment here on campus.

Distributing books was just one of the many ever-present tasks that Mrs. Lib Schaare and Mrs. Grace Hovland have done this year. Besides supplying us with such necessities as shampoo, stationery, toothpaste and T-shirts, these ladies have "saved lives" by having a ready supply of pens, pencils and paper.

They were cheerful, smiling and calm, cool and collected even if you couldn't make up your mind as to what you wanted. These ladies tried to make things even better for us by increasing the inventory and by devising a "take a number and wait system".

Cooks

Lauren Fugate, Wesley Hall, Robert Osterhaut, John Tilton, Bill Murray and James Dotson.

Dining Staff

BOTTOM ROW: Alice Van Riper, Helen Caviness, Ella Dee Cox, Louise Christanson and Rose Golden. ROW TWO: Myrtle Bonham, Dorothy Greaves, Irene Osterhaut, Lilly Abby, Betty Clayton and Jean Moses.

Among the more important daily routines none was taken for granted so much as the meals. Under the excellent direction of Wes Hall, the experienced and competent cooks were untiring in their constant care and preparation of wholesome food for the student body.

This year our dining staff answered cries of hunger with heaping platters of nutritious foods.

Keeping us happy and our mouths full were what they set out to do. They helped out by setting the tables and answering the needs of the students.

We could never have gotten along without the dedication of these valuable staff members.

Housekeeping

Mrs. Anna Mae Woodring, Mrs. Judy Ritzer, Mrs. Dora Dominquez, Mrs. Gloria Gilliam.

Did you ever notice how clean the dorms, classrooms and offices have been kept this year? All credit goes to our housekeepers. If not for these fine ladies, Judson would have fallen into the clutches of the desert. In addition to their cleaning duties, the housekeepers took care of the linens and made curtains.

Thanks to these ladies Judson was kept in tip-top shape throughout the year.

Many thanks to maintenance men for the unbelievable amount of work done throughout the year. If not for these fine men the outside surroundings of our school could have been turned into a total disaster. Everyday of the school year, if there was any type of maintenance problem, we could always count on these men to come in and solve it for us. In addition to maintaining buildings and rooms, these men were also responsible for keeping the schools automobiles running smoothly.

Maintenance

Willard Taylor, J. T. Brown, Dan Mau, Jim Brower, Paul Whitehair and Rex Young.

Supervision is alert

The most active and most necessary department at Judson was our campus Supervision office. These well trained adults were constantly at work insuring a safe and well organized campus.

These men had the thankless task of keeping students in line. Night times saw these busy men at their desk in their office or out on the campus making sure that all was well. They endeavored to keep the school under control.

Working 24 hours a day, patrolling and checking, left little time for their own personal interests. Thanks to these Supervisors the academic and social aspects of Judson life were well guarded and guided.

Ron Goodman, Head of Supervision

Preston Brady, Jack Griner, Bud Kiekintuld, Ron Goodman and Larry Gillen.

Drivers provide transportation

Larry Hamm, Robert Dus, Joe Kies, Paula Jobin, Wilfred Jobin and Jack Griner.

If it weren't for drivers where would the day students be? The answer is at home. Many of the day students were picked up at their homes in the morning and were dropped back home by these efficient people. As for the boarders, the drivers transported them to various shopping centers, and they even helped teachers by taking their classes on field trips. At the beginning of the year, Christmas time and the end of the year these drivers helped out by picking up and taking students to the airport.

Judson gates were watched well by Ernie Knackstedt, George Cavanaugh and Joe Woodring. These kind men gave visitors directions and protected campus from intruders. No problems came up this year.

Gatemen greet many visitors

Activities Director is busy gal

Oh wow! What a busy year—loved every bit of it! Never a minute to ponder—a busy person is a happy person. Students and staff have been more than helpful this year and so enthusiastic—trips of course have all been fantastic and all students have helped to make them a huge success. Grand Canyon, Mexico, ski trips, Disneyland, camping trips, Lake Powell, San Diego, Catalina and Hawaii! Young by heart, young by nature—that's me. See you all next year!

Ruth Young

The corral has long been the center of school activity, and Judson is one of the few schools that offers one. The riding and roping program not only teaches the fundamentals of good horsemanship, it also acquaints the rider with his horse's care and handling. The corral is headed by Debbie Cox, Pam Shull, Ruth Fronk, Bonnie Jagers, Ellie Trepas and Preston Brady. Among the 80 horses to take care of, these people have turned out numerous horsemanship and rodeo champions.

The entire school functions around the administration core. Such responsibility requires an executive staff of well educated, competent men and women, each skilled in his own particular field. All must coordinate their efforts as a united team in order to attain a common goal, that of helping to make Judson the highly respected and successful private school it is today.

Dorm counselors join student activities

Speed, stamina, velocity and agility were all part of basketball be it amateur or professional. Here at Judson many sports were practiced and basketball was one of our favorites. Dorm counselors joined in the fun, after asked what their particular concerns to activities were. Mr. Hackett takes roll.

Academic and extra-curricular classes at Judson are noted as some of the best in the state. Judson was proud to offer a wide variety of courses including Advanced Mathematics, E.S.L., History, Geography, Journalism, Sciences, Accounting, General Business. Among others, P.E., Riding, Home Ec., Art and Typing.

Teachers are well qualified and superior in their fields. Respect between students and teachers was emphasized in daily participation.

Opportunities available

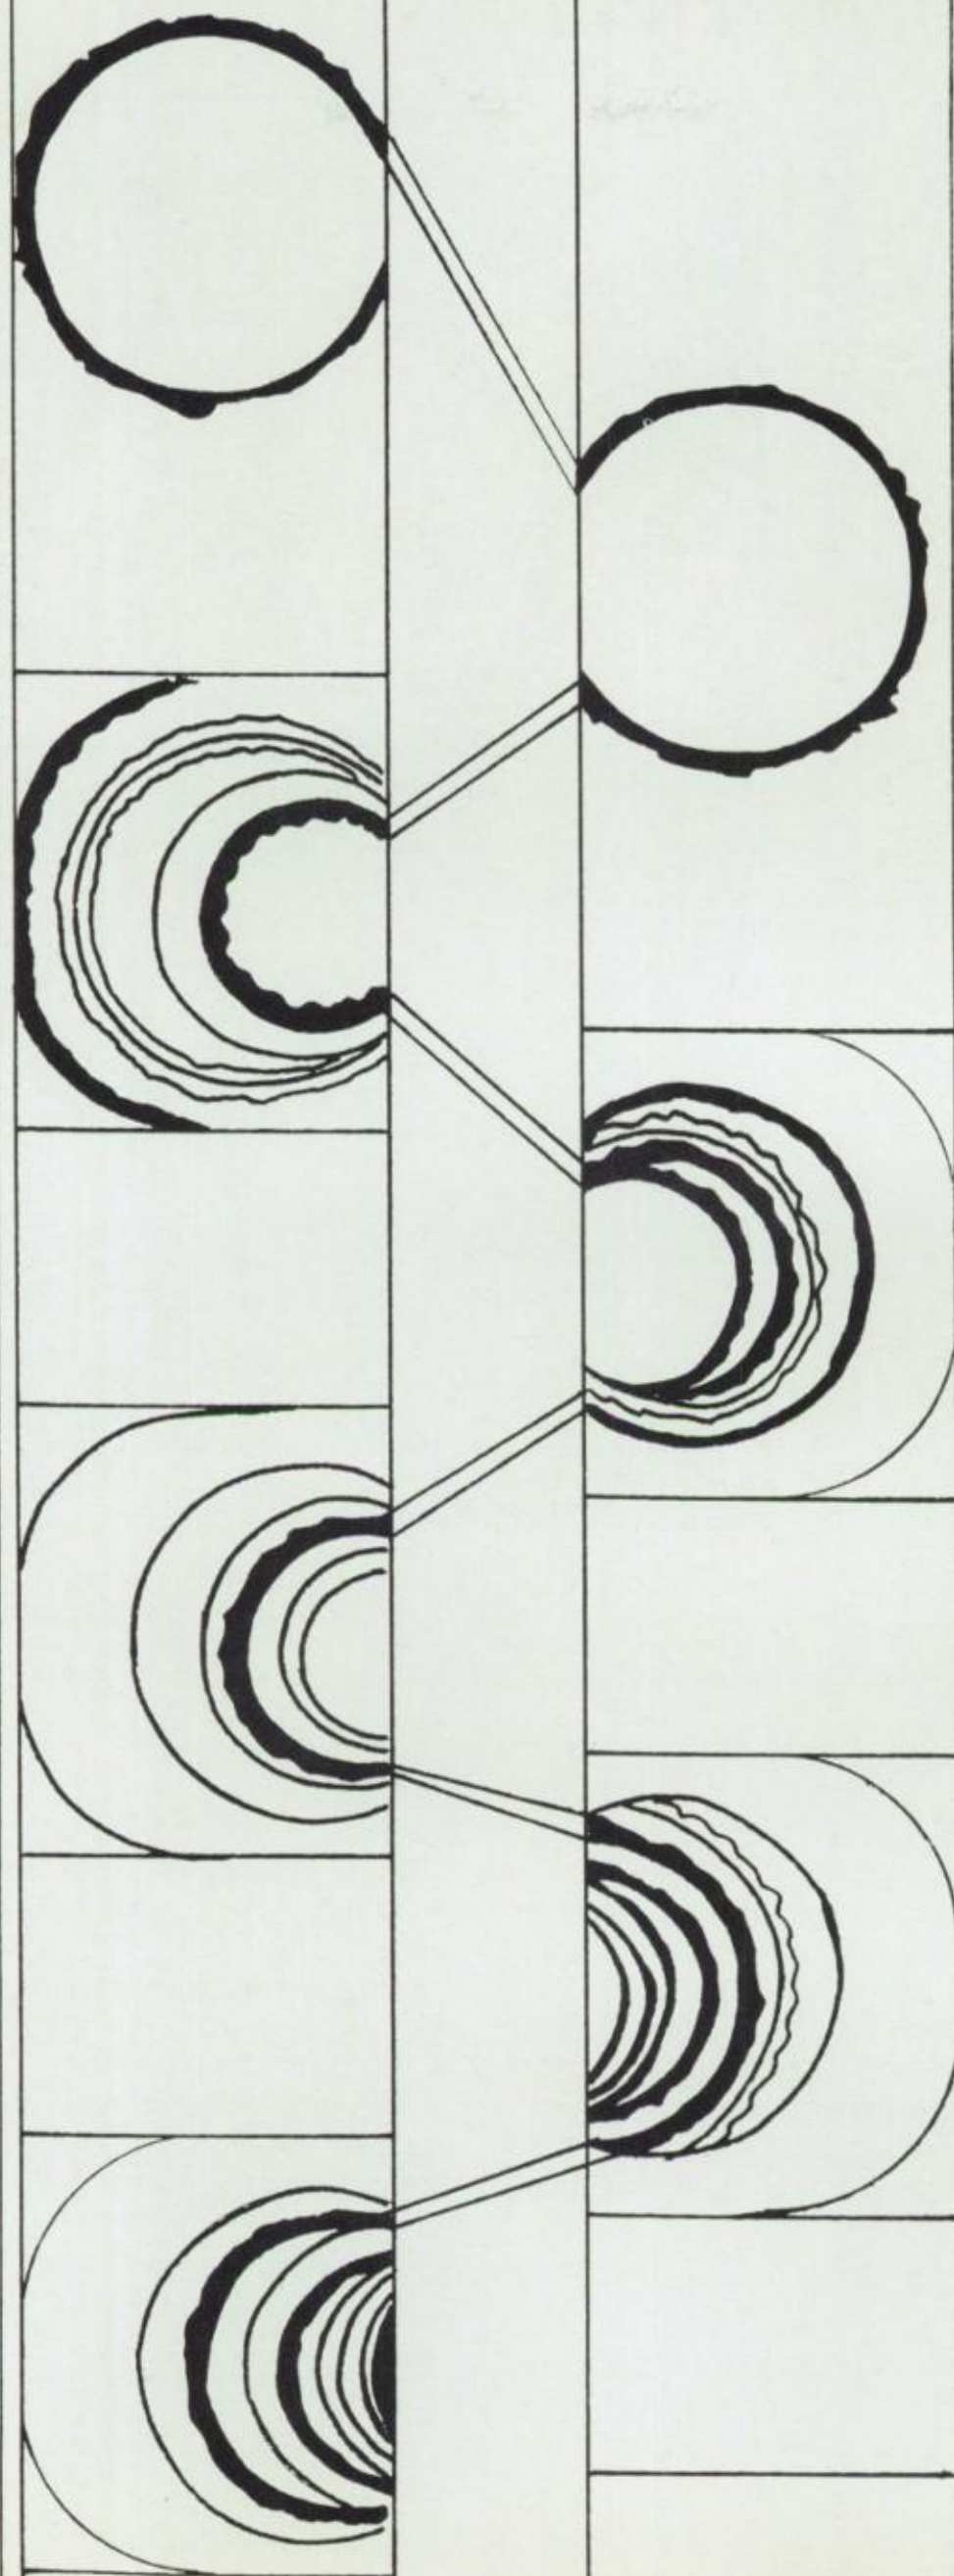

The library is put into use daily by the students, either for school work or personal matters. Mrs. Hickcox is always there to help advise on fiction books and aid in reference work.

Not only is the academic side taken care of but also the physical side has its staff. Buildings are kept clean and in order by Noberto Lovia, Tony Busseull and Robert Gonzales. They come in everyday after classes and do an excellent job.

Honors

Students honor Henry Wick

Henry Wick, director, was presented a lithograph of himself and the twins, and a speech of appreciation was given for all that he has done throughout forty of Judson's fifty years.

Shelly Pfeider authored and delivered the speech that so aptly expressed the beliefs of and love for Henry Wick.

Who is this man?

Whose joys and sorrows, whose dreams have become a language spoken by others, given to them by a rare man who often had to stand alone.

Who is this man who has turned his wants, his dreams, his knowledge to his and others' needs; whose projections have offered deeper vision to us all.

Who is this man whose thought is so commanding.

No one violates his ideas when he journeys to his land of visions, where even now, other travellers are almost unknown.

Who is this man who sees all of Judson as a home and yet even as he stands silently watching, he himself is playing the major part.

Will anyone ever answer who is Henry Wick? We are here to show our happiness to Mr. Wick for being the person he is.

Valedictorian Polly Hardy

Polly Hardy was born in San Jose, California, and is now living in Yosemite, California. She has attended Judson for two years.

Polly has been elected to Faculty Honors and National Honor Society. She was Judson's Rodeo Queen in 1977.

Horses and Rodeo are only two of her many interests. Polly plans to go to college in California with an undecided major.

Salutatorian Robert Stevenson

Robert Stevenson was born September 23, 1960 in Peru, South America. Robert has received the "Most Valuable Staffer" and "ASU Medallion of Merit" awards. He has travelled around the world and enjoys it tremendously.

Robert now lives in Paradise Valley, Arizona, and enjoys horses and motorcycles. He has been elected to National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. He is also Editor of the Cougar.

George Aldrich Award Arthur Rowland

Art Rowland received the U of A Outstanding Junior award in 1977. He is Assistant Manager of the Concho. He has been elected to National Honor Society and Faculty Honors.

Art was born in Kansas City, Missouri, and now resides in Scottsdale, Arizona. This is his seventh year at Judson.

He plays on the Judson basketball team. Art has also achieved the Eagle Scout badge, the highest scouting award.

This award is presented to the outstanding senior boy and is donated by the Aldrich family in memory of their son.

Outstanding Girl Connie Rogier

Connie Rogier enjoys working with people and animals. She has received a first place certificate in Macrame work. Connie has been elected to the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll and Faculty Honors.

She was born in Rotterdam, Netherlands, and is now residing in Sumatra, Indonesia. She was Judson's Homecoming Queen for 1977. Connie is Editor of the Cactus and Feature Editor of the Cougar.

U of A Outstanding Junior

Debbie Del Bosco

Debbie Del Bosco was born in Denver, Colorado, and now lives in Vail, Colorado. She is interested in skiing, horses, and art.

She has been on the Faculty Honor Roll and the Dorm Honor Roll. Debbie has received Art Awards for her talent in Art.

ASU Medallion of Merit Kelley McCulley

Kelly McCulley enjoys swimming and hiking. She was born in Yuma, Arizona, and now resides in Scottsdale, Arizona.

She is a member of the JETS and enjoys riding everyday. Kelley has been elected to the National Honor Society. She is Co-Business Manager for the Cactus.

Yearbooks don't just happen. They are the result of hours and hours of hard, and sometimes frustrating work that finally evolves into a finished book.

This year marked Judson's fiftieth anniversary and the staff attempted to correlate the history of the school with 1978 events.

Duties of the Cougar staff were many and varied as each staff member received training in all phases of editing a newspaper. Each staff member was responsible for the gathering of news stories and features that pertained to the arts, athletics, social events, meetings and dorm doings.

Every member of Judson received a paper and each issue was sent to parents and guardians all over the world.

Judson Art Festival

Mrs. Chapman's music appreciation course covers the study of musical elements and their application to all forms of music. It involves the periods of music, the composers and performers.

The course in the study of musical instruments includes knowledge and technical skill of the chosen instrument, reading and music theory. This is done in a conservatory style in which each student works at his own speed.

There is a wide range of instruments from the ever popular guitar, saxophone, vocal and percussion instruments.

Ms. Roxanne Mason was new to the Judson faculty this year. Learning ceramics and textiles from her was a fun experience. Not only did the students learn how to use different hand building techniques, but they also worked with potter's wheels. In the textiles class, macrame, batiking, and tie-dying was a big hit and Roxanne helped in all of it.

Electronics was offered again this year with a big turn out. The boys learned a great deal about AC and DC circuits. A lot was learned from Mr. Britt and he helped these students understand how electrical appliances are set up.

Girls' Rodeo team was involved in many interesting and rewarding activities. Among these were goat tying, pole bending and barrel racing. The girls worked their hardest under the supervision of Ruth Fronk, who not only helped them as a team, but also individually. "I'm very enthusiastic about my horse; and working together to make this year's rodeo team the best", said one of the girls on the team. The girls not only learned how to do these exciting events, but also learned good sportsmanship.

Boys Rodeo team

Preston Brady with his boys lined up for action.

Maintaining the tradition of being a western school, Judson boasts a fine roping team. These cowboys are involved with calf roping and steer riding. The team is composed of enthusiastic, fun people and it is supervised by Preston Brady. Each day our ropers could be seen practicing and getting ready for roping meets. The cheerful and warming personalities helped keep the Judson spirit alive.

Some of the most important aspects of English riding are poise, grace, style and unity with man and his horse. Ellie Trepas instructed the JETS with pride and expertise knowledge.

They began learning the art of English riding by learning how to bridle, saddle and mount correctly. Learning the correct stature of walking and canter-ing were at first difficult. After mastering it, they went on to higher things such as vaulting and later, horse shows.

Participating in such a sport and wanting to master it took long, tiring hours, but the glory in knowing they were successful was worth it.

From Lower School up, everyone was welcome to join the JETS.

Leo Hilario, Mark Cavolo, Mike Parker, Randy Criswell, Karl Hickel and Greg Happe (coach).

Honoring the athletes who took part in the fall sports program, an Awards Banquet was held. Coaches Greg Happe, Blady Ruiz, Sarah White and Dave Chase presented awards and letters to football, soccer, volleyball players and cross country participants.

Mrs. Aiko Onoyawa Schweikert was the guest speaker. She participated in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City. Mrs. Schweikert had her collection of silver and gold medals on display at the banquet.

Special awards were given for most valuable, most dependable, most enthusiastic and most improved, for each of the sports.

Cross country is a winner

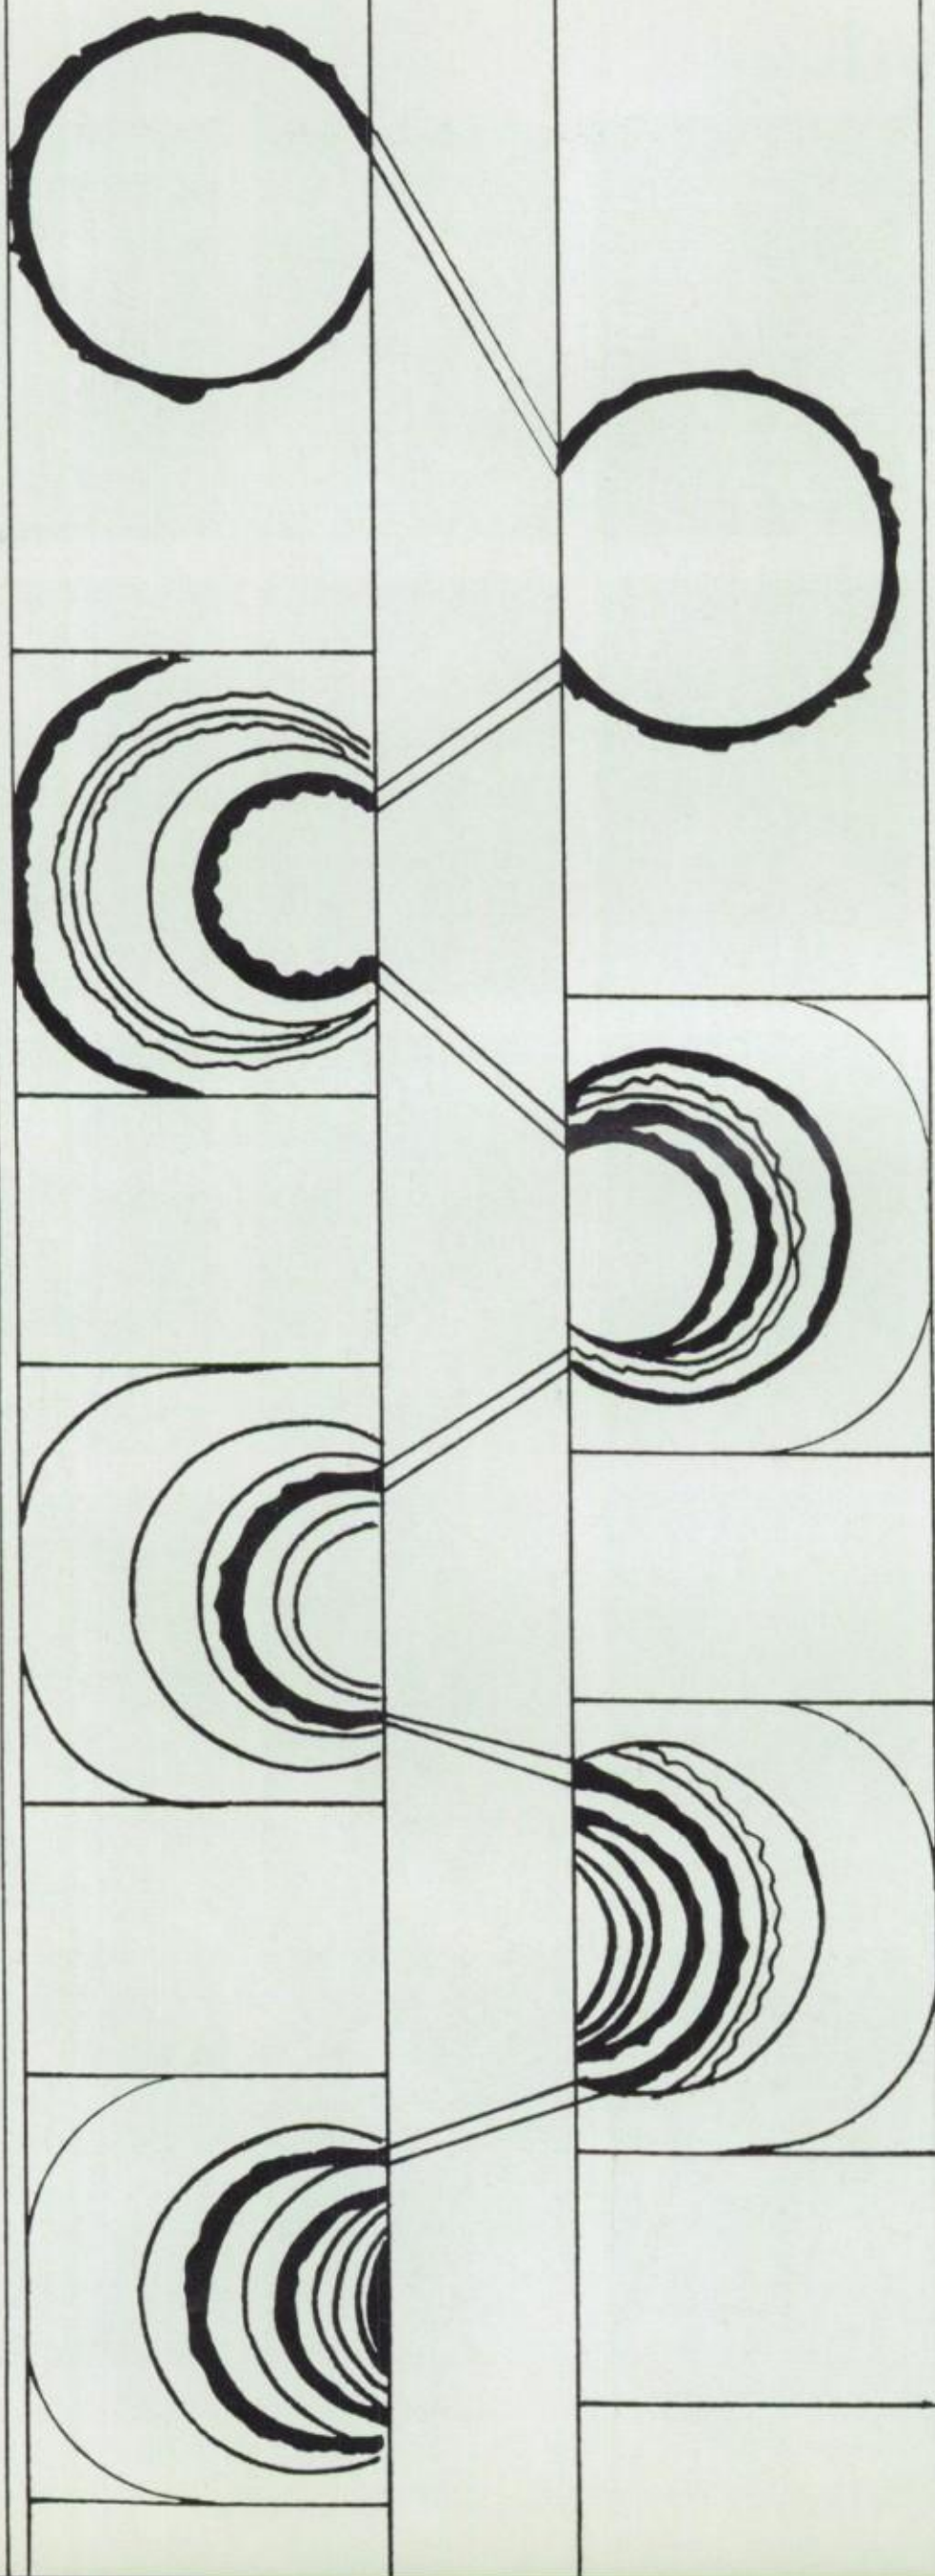

BOTTOM ROW: Benji Ross, Raymond Hester, David Garza, Danesh Rabbani and Julie Denoe. ROW 2: Shary Ribeiro, Vandee Walker, Peter Szkoda, Dave Chase and Sheila Bridgewater.

This was the first year for Cross Country here at Judson, and the team made quite a success.

Dave Chase, dorm counselor, began Cross Country track as an activity for the weekend. Students began to get involved with the sport and soon competition arose. Enthusiasm grew and awards were given for their success.

Shary Ribeiro and Raymond Hester.

Jim Duke provided the class pictures and was responsible for developing the color section.

A PRAYER OF THANKS

It is my joy in life to find,
At every turning of the road,
The strong arm of a comrade kind
To help me onward with my load.

And since I have no gold to give,
And love alone must make amends,
My only prayer is, while I live,
God make me worthy of my friends!

Graduates

The four years of our High School will be a memory throughout the rest of our life.

We look back on the happiness, the sorrow, the triumphs,
the frustrations.

Somehow it all seems worthwhile now.

We are ready now to attempt to accomplish that which is before us.

We stand today remembering the past but we look to the future, for the future is ours and we go forward today to claim our inheritance.
